1.1.2 The institution adheres to the academic calendar including for the conduct of CIE

Response:

A well-planned academic calendar is prepared before the start of each semester and shared with all faculty and non-teaching staff for their suggestions. This comprehensive list is created in consultation with all teachers. Faculty in charge of various college committees propose events, which are then included in the academic calendar. Bank holidays are also noted to facilitate proper planning. However, the academic calendar is flexible and may be adjusted as needed, allowing for the inclusion of events and activities of contemporary relevance

The institution strives to follow the academic calendar as planned. All non-teaching members are also made aware of the academic calendar. Once finalized, the calendar is distributed to everyone via email and as a hard copy. Teachers, non-teaching staff, librarians, and all stakeholders collaborate to ensure the smooth implementation of the teaching and evaluation schedule.

Annual activities, such as Lex Fair, Vakalat, Cultural activities, Annual Issue Release of Lexis (Student Magazine) Orientation Program, Farewell, and the Convocation Ceremony are held on the dates specified in the academic calendar, as far as possible. However, the scope for flexibility is always maintained to acknowledge unforeseen circumstances, as well as to incorporate new ideas and activities that can be offered to students as opportunities arise.

Since 2019, with the introduction of the CBCS (Choice Based Credit System) 60-40 pattern, the institution has followed the internal assessment pattern prescribed by the University, adhering to the guidelines outlined in the respective manual. These guidelines are also integrated into the academic calendar.

To ensure effective and continuous internal evaluation, the institution has integrated a college-initiated internal assessment tool into its curriculum delivery, aimed at enhancing the teaching-learning experience and providing opportunities for student engagement in research-related activities. This includes a Research Project and Presentations as well as a mid-semester examination. As part of this initiative, students complete a 20-mark research assignment, where they research a given topic and either make a presentation or write a research essay or article. This component is a regular feature. Mid-semester exam dates are planned in advance and included in the academic calendar. Regarding research and project assignments, course faculty inform students of submission dates well in advance. Faculty members also provide feedback to students for improvement.

Well-planned lectures, continuous evaluation, proper feedback to students and hosting varied co-curricular events create a highly conducive academic environment for the overall growth of the students
