1.0 INTRODUCTION

While the world stands at crossroads of ecology and climate change; and resource exhaustion it becomes imperative to verify the processes in practice and convert them into green and clean one, wherever required. Environment audit provides a direction towards assessment and improvement in this context.

An Environmental Audit aims to analyze environmental practices within and outside the college/university campuses, which have direct impact on the stakeholders. Environment audit can be defined as systematic identification, quantification, recording, reporting and analysis of components of given environment. It is initiated with the motive of inspecting the effort within the institutions whose exercises can impact the health of inhabitants and the environment. An environment audit aims to shed light on the existing environmental consciousness of the institution and to identify areas of concern, if any and provide suitable recommendations.

1.1 NEED FOR ENVIRONMENT AUDITING

Environment auditing is the process of identifying and determining whether institutional policies and practices are environment-friendly and sustainable. Environmental Auditing becomes necessary in order to make sure that the institution is proactive and competent enough at addressing specific environmental challenges and goals; and finding out opportunities to improve environmental performance.

It becomes necessary for an institute that imparts education, to have the right approach towards conserving and preserving resources; so as to not only meet the desired level of Green consciousness but also to set an example for its students and other stakeholders towards preserving the Earth's resources and adopting a sustainable way of life.

2.0 EXECUTIVE SUMMARY OF THE ENVIRONMENTAL AUDIT OF OCL

The Environmental Audit of Oriental College of Law was undertaken on 10th January 2024. Dr. Rupali Shyam Jamode, the principal of the Oriental College of Law, IQAC Coordinator along with the team were present during the conduct of the Environmental Audit.

An environmental audit is a snapshot in time, in which one assesses campus performance in complying with applicable environmental laws and regulations. Though a helpful benchmark, the audit almost immediately becomes outdated unless there is some mechanism in place to continue the effort of monitoring environmental compliance. This audit report contains observations and recommendations for the improvement of the environmental consciousness of the Institute and all its stakeholders. The audit is a tool to monitor environmental compliance of the Institution and find gaps, if any; and recommend suitable strategies to overcome the gaps.

CONCLUSION/ RECOMMENDATIONS

The college is a premier Linguistic Minority Institute located in Sanpada, Navi Mumbai. It provides excellent infrastructure to the stakeholders. The campus is lush green and well-maintained. The presence of a Sports Ground is an added benefit for the staff and students. The College has a well-defined policy for a plastic free campus. It is extremely appreciable that the college has chalked out a policy to make the campus a Green Campus. Another noteworthy aspect is the installation of energy-efficient LED lights throughout the premises, resulting in insignificant energy savings. The entire building is constructed in such a way that natural light is capable of lighting up most part of the entrance and the lobby. Students have been involved in Green and clean campus initiatives. More student outreach programs can be undertaken to make the community residing in the vicinity acknowledge the necessity of sustainable living. More indigenous plants and trees should be planted so that they attract the local birds and insects such as butterflies, etc.
